ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION OF MOUNT HOLYOKE COLLEGE

Alumnae Achievement Award 2013

Presented to

Susan E. Edwards '68, we honor you today with the Alumnae Achievement Award. It is presented to alumnae whose accomplishments and service to society exemplify the values and virtues set forth by the College.

Since graduation, you have touched many lives, personally and professionally. Clients trusted your expertise as a certified financial planner for more than thirty-three years. Your success in the world of finance has been marked both by professional advancement and by recognition from your peers. In 1977, for example, you were one of only five people nationally named to what’s commonly known as the “Broker Hall of Fame.”

You have also used your financial knowledge to make your Arizona community better. As an active volunteer for more than four decades, you have led efforts to advance the quality of medical care, to help young girls achieve their educational and life potential, to develop more female business and community leaders, and to improve the Arizona judiciary’s effectiveness.

Morgan Stanley Smith Barney, from which you retired as first vice president in 2009, named you one of its top ten employees nationwide in volunteer work.

For your tireless work and remarkable accomplishments in diverse areas, the Alumnae Association is honored to present you, on your forty-fifth reunion, with the Achievement Award.
